Recreation Major Topic At Town Council Meeting

Recreation matters occupied a considerable portion of the last regular meeting of the Drayton Valley Town Council, held on Thursday, April 8th.

Maintenance of the West Valley Park was the first item considered and it was pointed out by Recreation Chairman, Claude Albert that the Lions Club is unable to carry the burden of maintaining the facility.

After considerable discussion it was decided that town work forces would assume responsibility for maintenance of the park for 1971.

Centennial Civic Centre operation was also the topic of much discussion. Possible renovations to the building were discussed but no action taken, the general consensus being that extensive alterations would be too costly and not feasible at the present time.

The outdoor hockey rink was also discussed and it was pointed out that maintenance and operation of the rink cost the town $2514 in 1970 and $1887 in 1971. Suggestions were made to explore avenues of economy, particularly in caretaking costs.

It was agreed that capital expenditures for recreation in 1971 would have to be kept to a minimum.

Clare Drake Among Banquet Guests

Plans for the giant Minor Hockey Banquet are now close to being completed.

Banquet Chairman Doug Hall announced that the first official guest is one of the foremost hockey coaches from the University of Alberta Physical Education Staff, Clare Drake, who is now known throughout North America for his coaching techniques. Mr. Drake has won national titles for the University of Alberta both in hockey and football and is well known in Drayton Valley for the two hockey schools he has run in the past two years.

A complete program of guests will be announced by Mr. Hall at a later date. N.H.L. superstars are on the negotiation list.

Some lucky Minor Hockey League player will be receiving a new pair of Bauer Supreme skates at the banquet draw on May 8th. These skates were donated by Als Sport Shop. Each Minor Hockey player will enter the draw by writing his name on his banquet ticket and dropping it in the draw barrel.

Tickets for the banquet are now available at the Recreation Office at the Town Office. Only a limited amount will be sold so parents and guests are asked to buy them early to avoid disappointment.

Remember the date, May 8th, at 6:00 p.m. sharp, at the Centennial Civic Centre.

DISTRICT GIRL WINS BURSARY

Fourteen-year-old grade ten student at Breton High School, Barbara Hogarth of Buck Creek, has won a scholarship which will take her to Glamorgan, South Wales for the next two years.

Barbara, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Len Hogarth, was presented to the Legislative Assembly and the Lieutenant Governor on Tuesday of this week by Hon. J. Henderson, M.L.A. for Leduc constituency. She was accompanied on the trip to the city by her parents and Breton High School Principal W. Wynnyk.

The award, which is presented by the World College of the Atlantic, is worth more than $4000. Under terms of the scholarship, Barbara will have her full tuition paid for a two-year period, however winners are required to pay their own transportation and incidental costs to the United Kingdom educational centre.

Miss Hogarth is the single successful applicant to be selected from the estimated 300 Alberta students who sought the scholarship. The award is made largely on the basis of scholastic ability and was announced following an interview before a selection committee at the University of Alberta.

The Hogarth family moved to a homestead in the Buck Creek area about nine years ago from Vancouver. While attending school in Vancouver Barbara won a citizenship award at Lord Kit-chener School.

She entered grade nine last fall but was moved up to grade ten at Christmas.

An avid reader, Barbara read 250 books last year and is a regular user of the Drayton Valley Library. Her literary taste covers a wide range and she says, "she reads almost anything."

Following completion of her two years at Atlantic College, Barbara will write external examinations at Cambridge. If they are successfully completed, she would then be entitled to enter any university in Canada, United States or Britain.

The World College projects among its primary aims that it attempts to promote international leadership through education and to provide a pattern of education which is adapted to meet the special needs of our age. It adds that the highest standards are maintained but they resist specialization.

BARBARA HOGARTH

She will be leaving in August, following completion of grade 10 for St. Donat's Castle, Glamorgan County, South Wales. The World College is a boarding school which encourages private study and has close liaison between student and teacher. The students live in houses which are occupied by persons of mixed international background.

Each school year is divided into two terms with a total of 36 teaching weeks and one week as a "project expedition" in the middle of each term. Students choose three or four advanced level subjects and four or five subsidiary courses. Provision is also made for travel to countries in continental Europe as well.

Rotary Club Elects Officers

The pot luck supper held in honor of the three hockey teams the Aces, Bantams and Pee Wees was well attended and most delicious. Mr. Pearson was the M.C. for the occasion and called upon each coach to say a few words. Mr. Patten, Mr. Bratland and Mr. Danyluk all gave brief and very interesting summaries of last year's hockey events.

Mr. Danyluk presented each of his players who had scored three or more goals during one game with an award and on the receiving line were Rod Blades, Terry Hayduk and Randy Hammond. Most valuable player award went to Terry Hayduk and for the most aggressive player Lance Schnieder received an award.

Rod Blades presented Mr. Danyluk with a hockey trophy from the Pee Wees for being a great coach. At the conclusion, the President of the Alder Flats Students Union, Grant Sluchinski presented the secretary of the Community Association, Mrs. Joyce Hayduk with a cheque for five hundred dollars, to be designated later on as to what they would like this money spent on such as a covered arena e.g.

Council accepted the recommendation of the Recreation Board that the Minor Hockey Association pay the sum of $250 for arena rentals, the total being based on a $1.00 per participant fee. The matter of arena rental was also discussed at some length and it was decided that a new system of assessing users be arranged before the next winter season.

Council authorized the purchase of jackets for members of the Rebels and Challengers hockey teams in recognition of their Provincial Championships.

Town Planner, Wayne Gordon and new Town Engineer John Arabsky were present at the meeting and took part in discussions regarding the application of West Park Developments Ltd. to subdivide a 20-acre parcel south of the new mobile home subdivision.

Council members voiced objection to the size of some lots in the proposed subdivision, and the developer, Mr. Len Hogarth offered to revise the plan to increase lot sizes. It is expected that a decision on the revised plan will be made at the next meeting.

Council ratified the appointment of Mr. John Reid to the Recreation Board to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Joe Balen. Council directed that a letter be sent to Mr. Balen acknowledging his contribution to recreation in the community.

Council authorized advertising tenders for paving of streets and construction of sidewalks, curbs and gutters as outlined in Bylaws 525 and 526.

In Drayton Valley each Wednesday at Sekura Auction Mart from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

A final meeting in the series arranged by the four D.A. Districts around Edmonton on income tax as it affects farm business arrangements was held in the Sportex Building last week. Those who attended from this area found Gordon Flynn's (a Chartered Accountant) comments on Estate Tax Regulations, Basic Herds and Averaging Privileges and Advantages quite applicable to their own situations. He advised farm families to wait until Parliament has debated this controversial legislation that pertains to Capital Gains Tax later this summer before making any major changes in the farm organizational structure.

The Estate Planning Advantages Possible, Income Tax Savings, and Ease of Transfer of Ownership associated with incorporated business was illustrated and discussed.

Those who attended felt this was a worthwhile series. If you are interested in a series of meetings on Farm Business Arrangements for next fall, contact your advisory committee member or this office so we may begin planning.

A reminder that we will continue to set aside Wednesday for our office day in Drayton Valley, however, effective April 19th the Department office hours in Stony Plain will not coincide with the Counties. We are required to be on duty at our respective offices between the hours of 8:15 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Hopefully this will not inconvenience anyone.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By Kevin Peterson and Don Sellar (Of the Calgary Herald)

As the Legislature debates become more humdrum, the political backroom activity takes on a more feverish pace and Premier Harry Strom's spring election appears more likely than ever.

The precise election date is anyone's guess, but word in Social Credit cabinet and back-bench quarter is that the day will be set at a government caucus meeting to be held about the time the House Porogues.

Mondays in June are the favored days for the vote, with the 14th and 21st the most likely possibilities. The premier is almost certain to follow the pattern of a 39-day campaign used so successfully by his predecessor, E. C. Manning.

The two major parties already know what their election slogans will be. The government will call their campaign "Alberta Together" and the Tories have adopted "Breakthrough '71" as their theme.

Both organizations are in the final throes of nominating candidates. The Tories have filled 67 of the 75 nomination slots, while the Socreds have 56 in the field and will have their slate completed by the last week of May.

The New Democrats, using "Reach Out for People" as their banner, have nominated 43 contenders and are still planning on filling a full slate. The Liberals have chosen 9 candidates.

The Socreds will campaign on their 35-year record of administration, throwing in a potential legislative package for another four-year term. Mr. Strom plans to travel extensively during the campaign and set the tone for the most aggressive Socred campaign in recent elections.

Meanwhile, the Tory challengers are expected to unveil a 50-point program of political reform and feature the presence of their leader, Peter Lougheed, in their bid to oust the government.

Meanwhile, the Legislature session drags on—a traditionally dull last meeting before an election.

The government's legislation creating a three-man Alberta Police Commission with broad advisory and investigative powers is now before the House.

Under its provisions, the attorney-general would have authority to name a majority of members to local police commission boards, although it would be up to local governments to decide whether the commissions would have three or five members.

Attorney-General Edgar Gerhart has stressed the government intends to retain its right to create its own provincial police force to administer justice in smaller centres of the province, but the RCMP will continue to do this work under contract of the government.

Local government officials in Edmonton and Calgary have criticized the new police act for granting excessive powers to provincial authorities, so it's likely the legislation will receive a thorough airing in the House before taking effect July 1.

Smaller communities in the province will probably benefit from another government bill which allows beer and wine to be served in small restaurants which otherwise wouldn't qualify for a full liquor licence. The legislation will take effect in about two weeks.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor,
The Western Review,
Dear Sir:

DOG PROBLEM

All people concerned with the "loose dog problem" in Drayton Valley should write a letter of complaint to our town hall so the seriousness of this problem will be brought to their attention and perhaps something would be done about it.

Summer is coming and there is no way that gardens will grow or lawns and flowers will look nice with packs of dogs travelling around town ruining everything.

The dog catcher we have now lives in Devon so he has no idea whether dogs are loose or not. Its high time citizens of Drayton Valley took a stand on this issue.

The only way steps will be taken is by each of us expressing our opinion to our town office.

Carol Gillis.

ARTS COUNCIL

The next meeting of the proposed Arts Council will be held Monday, April 26th at 7:30 p.m. at the Parkland Regional Recreation Office. Election of officers will take place.

LINDALE NEWS

Welcome to the Van Loosen family who recently moved into the David Van Ember house. Lyle is recuperating nicely after his accident and may be able to return to school shortly.

The Easter holidays saw several people visiting the district, among whom were Don and Frances LaChance and family, Carl and Ruby Finke - all of B. C. Vern and Elva Gillespie and family, Tom and Marie Bijou and wee son Christopher, Joe and Janice Bijou. Some of the residents of Lindale took advantage of the holiday to visit elsewhere.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Sullivan will be moving. She was the grade six teacher until the Easter holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Huculak motored to B. C. for the holiday. Mrs. Huculak teaches grades four and five at Lindale School.

There are a number of culverts which have frozen during the winter, causing the water to run over the roads in several places, since the snow has been melting in the more spring like temperatures. The county crew has been out the last few days, thawing culverts and letting the water out.

Although there is still snow in many places, it must be spring, as the robins are back. The boys and girls are riding bicycles and playing ball.

Joyce and Ed Nixon and baby daughter, have moved into the hamlet of Lindale, for a few days, until road conditions enable them to get into their own place.

Harry Tweedle, and Art, motored to the Brooks area to visit Wes Tweedle and family.

Mrs. Rhoda LaChance has been moved from the nursing home in Stony Plain, to a hospital in Edmonton.

CHILDREN'S RECREATION CLASSES WIND-UP

A reminder of the Regional Recreation classes wind-up to take place April 25th at 1:30 p.m. at the Wabamun Community Hall. All children's classes sponsored by the Parkland Regional Recreation are invited to perform. Parents, family and friends are invited to attend. The program will be varied from Puppet Shows Physical Culture, Gymnastics, Folk Dancing and Craft Displays. There is no fee - and coffee will be served.

Everyone welcome.

PLAYSCHOOLS

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN PLAYSCHOOLS?

The Parkland Regional Recreation will, in the fall of 1971, initiate a new program in the County of Parkland. Many community groups as well as individuals have expressed the need for a playschool program for five year olds.

The main objectives of a playschool program is not that of a babysitting service - but it is a program with the main purpose of helping in the development of the pre-school child socially, physically and emotionally, as well as intellectually.

The program can be offered from October to May of the following year on a once a week basis - or every day - whatever the community would wish. The number of children attending can vary from 10 - 30, depending on the situation in each community.

We are looking for leaders to be sponsored, preferably by the Local Community Organization in all communities where playschool will be held. Experience is not necessary but a true interest in young children is a must. All leaders must attend a one week Leadership Course in September, as well as monthly in-service courses.

If you are interested to see this type of program developed in your community, please write or phone your support and interest to your local community organization or the Parkland Regional Recreation, Box 179, Stony Plain.

STAIN REMOVAL
"Out, damned spot. Out, I say" - Lady MacBeth.

The old bleaching and boiling techniques of yesterday do not work on the new proliferation of textile fibres. Stain removal has become complicated.

A stain reports the Canadian Consumer, is a discoloration produced by the presence or action of some foreign matter on a fabric. The longer the stain is on a fabric the more difficult it is to remove. So what's the procedure?

1. Treat the stain while fresh.
2. Blot up, brush or scrape off all excess.
3. Identify the stain by either scratching, feeling, smelling, noting color and location.
4. Know your fabric and finishes.
5. Know your stain remover (We'll discuss these)
6. Test stain remover on some unexposed part first to make sure it will not affect the fabric or dye.
7. Work rapidly but gently. Apply stain removers in small amounts over a short time, repeat if necessary.

There are four basic methods of stain removal.

1. Absorbents: -- Absorbents have a blotting action to drink in wet stains that have not penetrated into the fabric. Absorbents should be rubbed into the wet stain then removed by brushing when it has taken up the excess moisture. Types: - absorbent cotton, cloths, paper, sponges, cornstarch, talcum powder, soda, Fuller's earth.

2. Detergents:-- Detergents are commercially available products to remove non-greasy stains by acting as a lubricant. On washable fabrics, detergents can be worked into the stain by rubbing with fingers then washed out. On non-washable fabrics the detergent must be diluted with an equal amount of water, worked into the stain and then sponged out with cool water. Types: - soaps, synthetic detergent, liquid detergents, shampoos. Shampoos are great for removing oil stains from polyester fabrics like Fortrel.

3. Solvents: - Solvents may be toxic and inflammable, dissolve a stain. They should be used in ventilated rooms away from heat and pre-tested on an inconspicuous part of the garment. The use of solvents, place stained area a pad of soft absorbent cloth, stain side down so stain can be pushed out of the fabric. Work from the center of the stain towards its outside edge, using light brushing motions. Sponge irregularly around the edges of stain (feathering out). Do not rub. Types of non-greasy stains - water, nail polish remover, alcohol and turpentine. For greasy stains rubbing margarine, kerosene commercial solvents.

4. Bleaches and chemicals. - Bleaches and chemicals combine chemically with the staining substance. Test on inconspicuous part first to be certain they do not damage the fabric or dye. The stain should be dampened with cool water and placed stain side down on an absorbent material and a small amount of diluted bleach or chemical solution applied to the stain. Common bleaches include sunlight, pepsin (mild) hydrogen peroxide (mild) and javel water (powerful alkaline bleach). Chlorine bleach is widely known chemical stain remover. It should not be used on fabrics containing wool, silk, or a fabric with a special finish. Vinegar and lemon juice are two other useful removers. Fabrics should be rinsed thoroughly.

There is more on spots and stains in our free booklet, "Spot and Stain Removal."

YELLOW POND LILY (Nuphar variegatum)

A perennial aquatic plant found throughout temperate North America in fresh or acid water. Grows in ponds, marsh areas, slow streams, etc., of moderate depth, (to six feet). Attractive oblong leaves (lily pads) float on surface, are large-six by nine inches. Flowers bright yellow, about two inches across. Rootstocks are eaten by moose, seeds by waterfowl, particularly by the ring-necked duck. Often so abundant as to cover the surface of creeks or small ponds, rails frequently run across on the lily pads.

Miss Vough's main responsibilities have centered at Greenville Hospital where she has been actively involved in the nurse's training program. Her work has included teaching nursing students and supervising the hospital ward and operating room.

In addition to the hospital duties Naomi was chosen as advisor for the Natal Cape Conference Youth Organization. Under her guidance the African young people are assuming more responsibilities each year in managing and organizing youth activities including youth camp.

Miss Vough completed nurses' training in Oak Park, Illinois and graduated from Greenville College, Greenville Illinois. Before going to Africa, she was employed as head nurse on the Medical floor of Chicago's West Suburban Hospital.

The public is invited to this service to learn more about the medical missionary program in South Africa.

Al - Anon Members Share Hope

Al-anon is a fellowship of relatives and friends of Alcoholics who share their experience, strength and hope to help solve their common problems of living with an Alcoholic and to help others do the same.

We believe Alcoholism is an illness which can be arrested and that changed family attitudes can often aid the alcoholic to recover.

We urge anyone who is interested in Alcoholism, perhaps in your professions, teachers, ministers, nurses, etc. to attend the Public meeting to be held in the Legion Hall on May 2nd at 2:00 p.m., also anyone who may be living with a problem drinker.

The experience of the Al-anon programme proves that it is never too late, and never too early to try to understand ourselves in relation to the Alcoholic. Many who are members of Al-anon have already seen their loved ones achieve sobriety, but they have found that life with a sober alcoholic can present special problems of adjustment. Others still have active problem drinkers in their homes, all of them need the fellowship which Al-anon affords.

Drunk Snowmobilers Also A Big Problem

There is a high involvement of alcohol impairment in snowmobile accidents, the Ontario Department of Transport says in its report on Motorized Snow Vehicle Collisions.

The study analyzed 323 snowmobile collisions during the winter seasons from November 1968 to April 1970; 288 on the highway and 35 off-highway. They involved 53 fatalities.

Of the 272 snowmobile operators for whom driver condition was stated, 62 or 23 per cent were described as "ability impaired" or "had been drinking."

Of the 24 fatal victims for whom driver condition was stated 12 or 50 per cent involved drivers in this condition.

Snowmobiles are allowed to operate on some Ontario highways and in many municipalities. The report noted that a third of the operators involved in highway mishaps over the survey period lacked motor vehicle driving experience and 12 per cent were under 16 years of age and, therefore, were driving illegally.

Preliminary Ontario Department of Transport findings show operators are five times as likely to be involved in accidents if they are driving snowmobiles that if they drive cars.
